Gray. 1605.

A Prognostication
gathered for the yeere
of our Lord God.

1605.

First after the Leape yeere.

Rectified for the Elevation and Perfection of the towne of Byrpton:
Serving most aptly for the best partes, and generally for the West partes:
And generally for all England.

By Walter Gray, Gent.

Quod gratis grata.

Imprinted at London for the company of Stationers.

1605.

The Sunne twyce

Eclipsed this yeere.

1605.

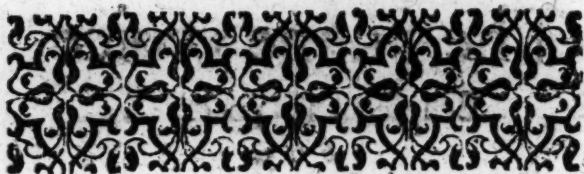

Such is the ignorance of many, that they suppose few things truly foretold, which afterwards fall not out apparant to their eyes; whose feeble perceiuerance I omit to distemper with strange humyze: that, the Sunne shall the viii. day of Aprill suffer his light (in some sort) unpayed, to people farre (in longitude, and latitude) remooued from vs, and nothing to be perceiued of vs: other reasons to be cyted I leaue to rehearse, and yet desire to be beleeued in this, though vnseene, as to be credited in that which apparantly shall be behelde the second day of October being Tewe-day, at one of the clocke, and, viii. minutes after noone: the Moone then new, and neare the Dragons head in Libra. &c. when the Sunne shall become visibly Eclipsed. The cause is naturall, and therefore I respit Iudgement.

The Moone twice Eclipsed this yeere. 1605.

The xxiii. day of March being Sunday, at vii. of the clocke and, xxviii. minutes at nyght, the Moone then at full, in Libra, and neare the Dragons head, will become darkened.

The like accident will befall the Moone the xxii. day of September (being Tewe-day) at three of the clocke and, xxxiii. minutes in the morning: she then at full, and neare the Dragons taylor in Aries.

A Prediction of Winter.

This rough and cold Quarter, began the. xi. day of December last, 1604. with the Sunnes entrance into the first degree of Capricorne; being the farthest limit of his digression southwardes from vs: and hereby vnable to cherish vs with such bending rayes, as in other times of his rearer residence: and therefore now by very course (were there not annexed causes) we were to expect cold; which this yeere is likely to consist most of a freezing temperament, with often failes, more tending to congealed moisture, then to raine: which threatens vnto Cattle of the lesse lost damage, by cold and hunger.

The Diseases and Sickneses this time to stirre, may seeme to abounde in an improper temperament, to this cold seasons: For that diuers Agues, and hot Feuers, are likely to afflict many, and diuers to suffer grieue by Impostumes, Soores, & painefull Scabbes: swellings and terrores against nature: As also paynes in the head and eyes, and often tortions in the guttes and belly, more beying men then women: whose trauayles for child-birth, will proue more paynesfull then dangerous: men enuring Justice, and others adopted for Embassage, are threatened with sinister successe to encounter their endeouours with disgrace, to their encrease of secret malice, and minde in after time to reuenge.

A Pre-

A Prediction of the Spring.

This plausible season, pursuing the ravishments of the Hyemall Quarter preceeding; which ended with the Sunnes entrance into the first scruple of Aries; namely the .x. day of March: when this mylde season began with all necessarie supplies to reuive all cressiue thinges from out the deuouring dim-gions of deadly Winter, now by little and little, garnishing the leaflesse Trees, and bare fore-withered places, with new buds, and flaunting Flowers, well agreeing to the perfection of the time; were there not a defect of sweete and soft shewers, threatened: so as the ground not duely moistened, a scantie of Grasse is to be doubted, to the further detriment of poore fore-pined Cattle: and after scantie of Corne. &c.

The horror of Sickneses, of diuers maligne qualities, and terrour of Plagues and Dissentions, seemes instruments to stirre penitention in many: to implore helpe of the Diuine Priestie, in their afflictions and oppressions.

A Prediction of Sommer.

Sommer hath her beginning the .xi. day of Iune, when the Sunne entreceth the first minute of Cancer: who as a true Foster mother to all thinges, tendereth the well bringing up of such Iuyes, as were by the Quarter preceedent impetely begotten: which faule this Season cannot amende, but rather com-mende to a time of full ripening: wherein, the suddaine mutablitye of the Ayre seemes in some sort hindering; and the often change from heate to wet, from calme to violent stormes, and raying bindees, with great downefolles of hayle and raine, to increase Floods and Caterpillers: As also a meane to further Sheepe sicknesses, and establish Galladtes, and long lasting Infirmities, to assault people of old yeeres.

The positions of curious questions, framed by ouer twentieth wittes to decerne of Diminution: and secret murmurings are to be doubted to stirre mutinies, and diuision of auncient societies of persons of good calling, to the sorrow of many. An Earthquake is also to be feared.

A Prediction of Autumne, or Haruest.

The Sonne hauing made his retyre into the first minute of Libra the. xii. day of September, and in his momentarie declination towards the South, preides common reason of a diminution of heate: and yet not now, in that manner as might best become the Fall of the Lease: but rather so dyuers in disposition, as may hardly be helde conuenient: but rather by intermixture of moisture, and contrarieties of temperaments, loosed with thunder, and hurtfull tempestuous stormes, corrupting the Ayre: more alyable to continue contagion of sicknesses, then a meane to restraine the vigor of many vnknewne Galladtes, and other vntamed Discaies, and sodaine Death, chiefly to raigne in Easterne Regions: whose tranquillitie is threatened a disturbance, by a discouerie of some long hid-den purpose of imposition of Taxes, or Tributes: Yet plenty of thinges will exceede others of Celestiall and beeing, from them.
